Construction Rocks in 2011

THE event of the Construction Industry Music Calendar, Construction Rocks prepares for its fourth consecutive year.

WSP and BAA have again joined forces to organise Construction Rocks – the battle of the Construction Industry bands.

This year the event will be held on Thursday 20th October at a new, bigger venue, The Great Hall, at The Camden Centre, on Euston Rd opposite St Pancras Station. It is open to all construction industry company rock bands.

“Construction Rocks is a lot of fun and can get very competitive. Yet but there is also a serious side, last year we raised £17,000 for Help for Heroes, Robert Blair Primary School and several other charities,” says Nigel Fraser of BAA.

“The three previous events were completely sold out so we have moved to a larger venue with a capacity of over 700 and installed lighting and PA systems for an even more authentic rock experience”.

Paul Nicholson of Lend Lease has again volunteered to cover lighting and Peter Ball of BRE will be managing the stage.

With room for 10 bands in the line up, the event will be aiming aim to beat last year’s fundraising total. Interested Bands should contact Monica Bosworth for the entry form.

Tickets will soon be available either from the bands or at www.constructionrocks.com
